

Oregon Registration Guidance Supplemental Labels

Last Updated: September 23, 2021

What is a supplemental label?

A supplemental label details a significant change that has been made to the EPA master label, but that has not yet been made to the market label.

When a new crop is added to an EPA label, or another significant label change is approved, it can take several months to update the labels in the marketplace. An EPA-accepted supplemental label detailing the newly approved use or label change provides a “stop gap” to pesticide applicators. The contents of the supplemental label will typically be incorporated into the market label at the next label printing or within 18 months (whichever occurs first).

Is a supplemental label a stand-alone label?

No. Supplemental labels are partial labels. Both the supplemental label and the market label must be in the possession of the user at the time of application. The directions, restrictions, and precautions on both the supplemental and the market label must be followed.

Does ODA review supplemental labels?

Yes. All supplemental labels must be submitted to the Oregon Department of Agriculture (ODA) for review prior to distribution. Supplemental labels may be submitted through MyLicense (<https://mylicense.oda.state.or.us/>).

Is an EPA Stamped/Accepted Supplemental Label required?

Yes. ODA will not accept a Supplemental Label if there is no EPA Stamped/Accepted Supplemental Label on record. A copy of the EPA Stamped/Accepted Supplemental Label is required for each supplemental label submission.

What is the registration fee for a supplemental label?

ODA does not currently charge a fee for supplemental labels.

Once my supplemental label is approved, will ODA make it available to growers?

Shortly after a supplemental label is approved by ODA, it will be visible in our publicly-accessible product database (<https://oda.direct/SearchRegisteredPesticides>). However, it is the registrant's responsibility to ensure that their supplemental labels are available to pesticide users. It is also the registrant's responsibility to ensure that the contents of the supplemental label are eventually incorporated into the market label.

Are Special Local Need (SLN) labels considered supplemental labels?

No. While Special Local Need (SLN) labels registered under FIFRA Section 24(c) were referred to as supplemental labels in the past, they are no longer considered supplemental labels.

Whom should I contact if I have questions?
